Case Western Reserve University
Fall 1998 Program Guide

Dear Listeners

WRUW Hosts The Ninth Annual

Dear Listeners,

WRUW presents to you our Fall Program Guide. In here you will find all you need to know about what wonderful choices you have when you turn on your radio. We don't expect you to spend all of your time with us (though we wouldn't mind one bit), but we invite you to sample all of the shows we have to offer this Fall. Sit down at our dinner table and try our Polka Pumpkin Pie, our Rock Raspberry, our Hip-Hop Hamburgers, our Dance Desserts, our Folk Frankfooters, our Jazz dip, or our Bluesberry Pie. So by now you're probably hungry. Hopefully hungry for radio that dares to break the rules. Something different all the time. More Music, Fewer Hits. True. A Full Spectrum of Radio on One Frequency. True. Always Different. True. What's on Now? That's what this Guide is for.

Stay with 91.1 as we make our way up to 15000 watts. Fifteen-Thousand Watts of Freedom.

WRUW Hosts The Ninth Annual Folk & International Festival

It is that time of year when the last whispers of Summer breeze greet and old friend named Autumn. An enchanted time of days filled with vibrant myriads of color, and euphoric nights lit by the Harvest moon. Thus, it is time once again for WRUW's Folk & International festival. Our Ninth annual F/I takes place on Saturday, October 3rd at 1pm and features an auspicious lineup of celestial performers: Brain Henke (solo acoustic guitar), Harmonia (East-European folk), Al's Fast Freight (yankee-tonk), Jelly's Pierced Tattoo (Afro-Funkternative from Detroit), Los Ausentes (Mexican Nortenia), Hillbilly Idol (Town & Country), The Kent State Thai Ensemble (traditional Thai), Matthew Abelson & Friends (hybrid folkedelic), and Lisa St. Ann and her band (From NYC). This FREE, day long, outdoor concert takes place in the Mather memorial courtyard which is located one block north of the intersection of Euclid Avenue and Mayfield Road. Lawn chairs, blankets, coolers and kids are welcome. No glass bottles permitted. Like Studio-A-Rama, F/I is made possible through the generous donations pledged to WRUW during our annual on-air telethon. I like to call it "donation reciprocation." So, mosey on down on Saturday, October 3rd and be a part of the Folk & International experience!
